The Archbishop of Canterbury, at his most perspicacious:

'The Poe novel I really enjoyed reading. It painted a sympathetic picture without being uncritical, and brought his whole world to life wonderfully well. Blessings.'

President Nelson Mandela, at his most courteous:

'OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT, Pretoria, Republic of South Africa;

'Dear Mr Jones,

The President has requested me to thank you for your letter and for your piece on Mary Kingsley. You are assured of the President's sincere appreciation of this gesture of good will.

President Mandela wishes you everything of the best.'
